Alabama College

The

Tower

Standing as a sentinel in the midst of changing classes and customs is THE TOWER — landmark and symbol of the traditions of Alabama College.

Since the founding of this College in 1896, standards and policies of the administration, faculty, and students have blended to promote education in Alabama and to establish Alabama College as a leading institution in the South.

Dedicated to

With pride and appreciation we dedicate the 1953 MONTAGE to Professor Edward P. Hood, whom we have come to admire as a friend and respect as an educator.

He is a true example of the close ties between students and faculty here at Alabama College.

Mr. Edward P. Hood

It is traditional for the Alabama College administration to be capable, efficient, and understanding.

But the members of our administration are more than competent, they are tireless in their efforts to guide the development of mature personalities. They are accepting the responsibility for maintaining an educational program that will fit the need of leaders and useful citizens in a constantly changing society.

Administration

The Governor

Admired Governor of the State of Alabama and capable President of the Alabama College Board of Trustees is His Excellency Gordon C. Persons.

Much has been accomplished during the administration of this great friend of education.

The President

Dr. F. Edward Lund

Calm, dignified, and staunch in his support of student government is our new President, Dr. F. Edward Lund.

Assuming gigantic responsibilities during his first year on the Alabama College campus, Dr. Lund has proven his merit as a capable administrator, a true scholar, and a friend of the students.

The Dean

Dr. Richard Powers

In his effort to establish a pattern of ideals and discipline, Dean Richard Powers has become a prominent figure at Alabama College.

Holding one of the most demanding of the administrative positions, the new Dean is linking students, parents, administration, and faculty into a unit of understanding.

The Business Manager

Mr. Lee A. Barclay

Balance and budget are the chief concerns of Business Manager Lee A. Barclay.

With a keen eye for business, Mr. Barclay has managed to support improvements and beautification of buildings and grounds despite rising prices and limited budget.

The

Efficient operation of Alabama College as an academic institution depends to a large extent upon the college administrators, whose duties involve not only the purely academic, but also the routine tasks of organization.

With the wisdom born of experience, these administrators solve problems that constantly impede educational progress. Theirs is the responsibility for guiding mature responses from the students at Alabama College.

Dr. T. H. Napier was named Dean Emeritus by the Board of Trustees of Alabama College on June 2, 1952.

Directing Alabama College Alumnae organizations is Miss Eloise Lee, Alumnae Secretary. Miss Lee edits newsletters and the Alumnae Magazine.

Ralph W. Sears, Director of Public Relations, keeps Alabama College in the news through the media of newspaper and radio.

Room reservations and problems concerning campus rules and regulations are handled by Mrs. Martha Gee, Head of Residence.

Dr. Floris Herbert, new College physician, is a recent graduate of L. S. U. She did her internship at Charity Hospital, New Orleans.

Details of college finances are the responsibility of Mrs. Bessie M. Elliott, Assistant Treasurer.

Miss Ibbie Jones is the new Alabama College Food Supervisor. Her improvements in the dining halls have already provided a more pleasant atmosphere.

Current reading and reference materials are selected for the Library by Miss Abi Russell, Librarian.

Departments at Alabama College have always taken pride in providing not only a general education for all students but a specialized training for professional work.

Through lectures and classwork, laboratories and field trips, and research and practice, the faculty of each department seeks to instill in the student an inquiring mind and a desire to make concrete contributions in her profession.

Academic

Beauty through creative expression is encouraged by Dawn S. Kennedy, Head of the Art Department at Alabama College. The Professor of Art received her B.S. and M.A. degrees from Columbia University.

Classes come, classes go, but the Alabama College spirit will not die.

Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior — each class has its own traditions and loyalties. But the prevailing spirit is one that can be recognized through the years by any student. It is the spirit of sharing common goals and common interests, the spirit of meetings and of partings, the spirit of Alabama College!

JUNIORS

Juniors make their own traditions. Most important is the early discovery of the Sacred Stick, signifying the end of Crook Week and the gowning of a new Senior Class.

Then there's the battling campaign that determines who will lead the Student Government, the fabulous Junior Weekend and the Junior-Senior banquet with its affectionate farewells.

SOPHOMORES

It is the tradition for Sophomores to be extremely proud of the fact that they are no longer Freshmen. This pride is evident in the meticulous manner in which they care for their dormitory and the united spirit with which they plan the traditional Sophomore weekend. With the election of class members to student government positions, the Sophomores assert themselves upperclassmen.

FRESHMEN

Surprise and excitement are typical Freshman attitudes from the time they catch their first glimpse of the Tower-centered campus until they start packing to go home at the end of the year. Crowded into this first year are the uncertainties of hectic Orientation days, the numerous meetings, the long classes, the late snacks with new friends, and the thrill of their first College Night.

Poise, personality, and natural beauty were the standards used by judges to select six beauties and eight campus favorites during the annual Elite Night performance on October 25, 1952. Judges were Mrs. Anne B. Plummer, Miss Lillian Abbott, Mr. Leroy Bannerman, and Mr. Ray Furr.

The presentation of the Senior Elite and representatives to "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities" contributed to the success of the impressive Elite Night performance.

The Elite

The Elite are those seniors who are chosen by the students of Alabama College as being most representative and most outstanding in their particular field.

Being elected "Miss Alabama College" is one of the highest honors that can come to a member of the Senior Class. She is a symbol of Alabama College in campus leadership, personality, and scholastic ability.

Student Government, College Night, Crook Week — three outstanding campus activities that fill numerous hours outside of classroom.

Leisure time is spent beating a deadline on one of the student publications, heading a drive for World Student Service Fund, spinning the platters at the campus radio station, rehearsing the lines for a College Theater production, or serving coffee at a formal college reception.

Activities

ENGLE, HAWKINS, McQUEEN
Officers

Executive Council members put Student Government Association into the foreground at the very beginning of the year with a rousing Orientation program.

Among innovations adopted to promote efficiency in student administration were the appointment of a Drives Week Committee, which combined all charity drives into one week of activities, and the publication of weekly Official Notices containing important announcements and a schedule of SGA meetings.

COURT

Student Court has emphasized the Honor Code as an integral part of life at Alabama College.

During Orientation, Court members took responsibility for introducing the student handbook to freshmen.

Efforts were made to acquaint students with court procedure through articles in student publications and through explanations in each dormitory during Honor Week.

When trials were necessary, the Student Court acted in conformity with civil court proceedings.

Radio Station WRSD, "The Voice of Alabama College," operates on a frequency of 660 kilocycles and is located in Reynolds Hall. It is a full member of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System and has been assigned call letters by the Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D. C.

BETTY WASHINGTON, Chief Announcer

WRSD is staffed and operated exclusively by students. Two large studios equipped with different types of microphones; a sound effects cabinet; control and monitoring equipment; a central control room with an RCA console and a news rooms with a United Press teletype provide modern facilities for radio training.

WRSD

WRSD, under the supervision of Mr. Ralph Sears, provides the entire campus with a well-rounded schedule of radio listening.

Training and experience in radio production, directing, script writing, and performance, as well as in certain technical phases of the radio industry, are acquired through radio classes, the Radio Workshop, and the campus radio station.

College Night is more than a tradition. It is a combination of creative efforts and a spirit of keen competition.

CROOK

Heroine of Crook Week

The Crook is truly a tradition at Alabama College—a symbol of the dignity and responsibility of seniordom.

WEEK

Alyene ends Juniors' misery

The Seniors, after assigning the "ghostly" costumes for the newly christened "Microbeus smithi lemuroidea," set forth a rugged program which kept the lowly juniors busy providing entertainment and performing "small" services for the Most Honorable Seniors. With the discovery of the sacred Crook beneath the shrubbery by Palmer came the honor of wearing the cap and gown, and other Senior privileges.

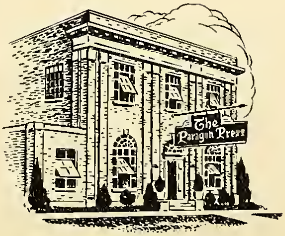
ON YOUR GRADUATION

Today we are printers of the yearbook of your school.

Tomorrow as you seek your future in the professions, industry and commerce we at Paragon hope to serve you with the essential Printing and Lithography you will need in the pursuit of your career.

Many of our best customers came to us through friendships formed around the annual planning table or from former grads like yourself who first saw our work in their annual.



With Best Wishes
